THE TOUCH DOES IT

Benson's Plasters are like your other friends—they hate to see you in pain or in weakness and are dog-tired hearing you complain about it. They want to cure you and send you along to your business—whole and happy. They can do it and will do it. Try them on. What for? Why for any aching or cold you may be troubled with, or any bothering pain or ache, or worry with kidneys or liver. Possibly some old clutch of muscular rheumatism renders an arm, or a leg worth only half price just now. For anything that makes the machine work slow and stiff, with pain maybe in the motion of it, clasp Benson's Plasters square on the bad spot. They are the get-out-to-morrow plasters—not the sort that go to sleep on your skin like a cat on a cushion. There is comfort and speedy relief in the touch of them. No other external remedy, no matter how made or how called, is worthy to live in the same street with Benson's Plasters. Pains and ailments melt away under them as a sheet of ice does under the Spring sun. You cannot foretell the weather but you can always forestall the effect of Benson's Plasters; it is as sure as the effect of a hot breakfast in a hungry man's stomach. But look out for substitutes. Get the genuine. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.

FOR THE LOVE

OF A CHILD

By H. I. CLEVELAND.

I have mentioned before that

"Gentleman" Ed of Blue Duck loved or cared for no woman. King of all the gamblers that infested the territory, immaculate in dress and speech, a Chesterfield even when circumstances demanded that he should kill, he turned his eyes neither to the right nor left for a woman's smile. The few that entered

Blue Duck in its best days received no more attention from him than did Mrs. Carter when "Gentleman"

Ed freed her from her husband under circumstances which the code of the frontier justified. Yet, with the exception of his profession, this man was all that a woman could have desired. He neither swore nor drank. He was scrupulous in his financial affairs. He was familiar with the Greek and Latin, well versed

in the English classics, an exquisite performer on the guitar or flute, a born horseman and as brave

a man as ever rode the range.

A child, though, could move the heart of "Gentleman" Ed where women and men failed. There were few children in Blue Duck and fewer on the ranges that surrounded the settlement. But they all knew the gambler king, and they loved him with all the intensity that the child puts into its first passion. He was the "gentleman gallant" that never failed them in any joy or

woe. Many a blistering winter morning I have looked out of the peep hole in the frosted windows of the shack I worked in and watched

"Gentleman" Ed plying through the drifts to the schoolhouse, a child

on each shoulder, one on his back and others clinging to the tails of his long fur coat. They were shouting, he laughing, and the spectacle

was one for the gods of the blizzard themselves to enjoy. They could not conquer this man.

After N. K. Hubbard established his private bank in Blue Duck there came to the town a man who represented his financial interests. He thought with him his wife and little daughter, a child of eight years.

The mother stayed close by the home, for there was no "society" in Blue Duck, the father literally lived in the bank, and the child romped where she pleased and became an special favorite of "Gentleman"

Ed. He sought no recognition from the father or mother. He was too proud, too well aware of his station, to give them a single opportunity to make him feel his moral unworthiness. They lived to themselves, condemning his character, ashamed of Blue Duck and its habits, anxious only to profit by its financial necessities, win their gain and depart.

The child knew little if anything of the fine distinctions drawn. It took to "Gentleman" Ed because he was intensely human, because he knew its child heart and, stooping down, placed himself on its baby level. To him all its sorrows could be told, all its triumphs recounted.

PEARL NECKLACES.

How the Gems Are Matched and Graded Before Stringing.

Pearls arrive from India and other parts of the world in small bunches, with silver tassels ends. They are then handed to the stringer, who lays them out upon a long velvet covered tray furnished with grooves of various sizes and depths. The pearls are then put into the grooves ready to be matched. Presuming a rope has to be made of fairly fine stones, the first thing to be done is to pick out the largest and finest pearl and place it alone in one of the large grooves. This forms the center of the rope. Then the two next best pearls of equal color, size and shape are picked out and placed

one on each side of the center pearl,

then the next two, and so on until the two ends are reached. They are then temporarily threaded and, if no alteration is necessary, strung again, and the diamond clasp is attached.

Every woman who values her pearls has them restrung at regular intervals, so that there is little risk of them being lost.

Curiously enough, this particular industry has been for generations

in the hands of one family, which,

it is needless to say, is well known among all who have dealings with these precious gems, and it is by this family that so many of the beautiful necklaces and collarettes of pearls are made and fitted so perfectly to their fortunate owners'

necks.—London Ladies' Field.

A Dainty Feast.

The wedding feast has from time

immorial played an important part in Maoriand. S. Percy Smith,

the surveyor general of New Zealand, gives this account of one such feast:

"The guests numbered hundreds,

and when the sweetened paste was to be served no dish could be found large enough. Accordingly a large canoe was brought, cleaned after their by no means particular fashion, and into this the paste was put.

As the multitude sat about it, each dipping in and helping himself with instead of spoons, a greedy child fell head first into the canoe, being entirely immersed in the food. Quickly rescued, it was decided it would never do to waste so much good food, so the little one was passed from one to another along the line of guests, who proceeded to lick him

over until clean."—Woman's Home

Companion.

What a Tarantula Looks Like.

The Mygale tarantula sometimes spreads over six inches square, but more frequently four or five inches.

A shaggy coat of hair covers the surface of the great spider. It is supplied with six long, bony legs and two dangerous pedipalps, or strikers, each armed with a sharp stinging and poison sac. The strikers are frequently mistaken for two long legs, and from this arises the idea that the creature has stings on its feet. Two powerful projections resembling jaws protrude from the head. Under each of these is a curved poison fang similar to a cat's

TIED OUT.

There's many a farmer's wife sits on the porch in the growing shadows of a summer evening, knowing to the full what it is to feel tired out; as if there was not another ounce of effort left in her. But

Index-Tribune.

SONOMA, MARCH 1, 1902.

H. H. GRANICE - EDITOR

It is now against the law to take steelhead, or California brook trout, in tidewater. Chas. A. Vogelsang, Chief Deputy of the California Fish Commission, says: "For the information of those who have the idea that they can take steelhead or California brook trout, in tide water, permit me to say they are entirely and absolutely wrong. No one in the State can have steelhead in possession between the 1st of February and the 1st of April. Any one taking them or having them in possession is guilty of a misdemeanor and can be prosecuted. Moreover, the trial will not be before a Justice, but will take place before the Superior Court. The Justice is merely the committing magistrate in these cases. The law governing trout or steelhead is in section 632. By reference to the preface of the game laws, you will observe that the Supreme Court has held that certain sections are triable in the Superior Court only. This being such an important matter and one attended with much expense, it would be well if people were advised of the great risk they are incurring in attempting to evade this law."

It is a growing custom to celebrate country weddings, in May and June, out of doors. One of the prettiest of weddings took place last May in an orchard in full blossom, when Nature seemed to have decked herself for a bridal. Garlands of foliage suspended from tree to tree marked off the aisle—those of white flowers indicating the place where the bridal party was to stand. For a country wedding the invitations should give full information about trains, and carriages or carryalls be sent to convey the guests to and from the station. After an hour given to their friends the bridal pair retire to dress for their journey, and the formal guests withdraw. The bridegroom awaits the bride at the foot of the staircase with the family and intimate friends. At her appearance she holds aloft her bridal bouquet and then throws it among the bridesmaids. The one to catch it will be the next bride—so say the fates.—March Ladies' Home Journal.

The Analy Standard has again changed hands and will henceforth be conducted by W. S. O'Brien of Marysville, who is said to be an experienced newspaper man. We congratulate the people of Sebastopol for the excellence of its local papers and wish editor O'Brien success in his new field.

Round-Trip Homeseekers' Rates.

To accommodate those who have never seen California, and who may wish to look over the ground before finally deciding to move West, the Southern Pacific, through its Passenger Traffic Manager, Mr. E. O. McCormick, has applied to the Trans-Continental Passenger Association for permission to put in very low second-class round trip rates to California similar to the homeseekers' rates which were made last year, and which brought thousands of settlers to the State. Tickets will be on sale at the low rates twice a month, first and third Tuesdays during March, April and May. The Southern Pacific is deserving of much credit for this action which cannot fail to be beneficial to California.

A Printer Greatly Surprised.

"Never was so much surprised in my life as I was with the results of using Chamberlain's Pain Balm," says Henry T. Crook, pressman of the Ashville (N. C.) Gazette. "I contracted a severe case of rheumatism early last winter by getting my feet wet. I tried several things for it without benefit. One day while looking over the Gazette, I noticed that Pain Balm was positively guaranteed to cure rheumatism, so bought a bottle of it and before using two thirds of it my rheumatism had taken its flight and I have not had a rheumatic pain since." ## Weekly Crop Bulletin

United States Department of Agriculture.
Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, California Section, Coast and Bay Division, for the week ending Monday, February 24, 1902:

Warm weather and heavy rains in all sections during the week have been very beneficial to growing crops. No material damage was done by the high winds. Grain is now growing rapidly, and prospects are good for nearly an average crop in the southern counties, while in the central and northern counties an unusually heavy yield is predicted. Plowing and seeding are progressing in some of the southern districts. Green feed has made rapid growth and is now plentiful in all sections. Orchards and vineyards are in first-class condition, and prospects are good for large crops of deciduous fruits and grapes.

Remembering His Enemies.

Mr. Edward Wortley Montagu, son of the famous Lady Mary, endeavored to be very sarcastic in his last will and testament. After some insignificant bequest "to my noble and worthy relative, the earl of" he adds: "I do not give him lordship any further part of my property because the best part of that he has contrived to take already. Item: To Sir Francis—I give one word of mine because he never had the good fortune to keep his own. Item: To Lord M. I give nothing because I know he will bestow that on the poor. Item: To Sir Robert W. I leave my political opinions, never doubting he can well turn them into cash who has always found such an excellent market for his own."

Must Aim Low.

An individual went into a second-hand clothes shop and asked to try on a suit of clothes. Putting on a coat and vest, he pointed up to a high shelf and said: "I think that pair of trousers will just suit me."

The dealer got up the ladder to reach them down, and while there the man ran out, still wearing the coat and vest and followed by the dealer, shouting: "Stop thief! Stop thief!"

A gamekeeper who happened to be passing leveled his gun and was going to shoot when the dealer yelled: "Shoot him in the trousers! The coat and vest are mine!"—London Answers.

A Distinction.

Lord Coleridge was driving toward his court one morning in his brougham when an accident happened to it at Grosvenor square. Fearing he would be belated, he called a cab from the street rank and bade the Jehu drive him as rapidly as possible to the courts of justice. "And where be they?" said the innocent looking cabbie. "What! A London cabbie, and don't you know where the law courts are at Old Temple Bar?" "Oh, the law courts, is it? But you said courts of justice."

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION
OF
COD LIVER OIL
WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

See and feel all at once.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed it is blocked off and the sound cannot enter the ear. It is entirely closed. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

FOES IN AMBUSH.

THE HIDDEN PERILS OF THE PAST AND PRESENT.

When the Puritan passed through the forests of New England, he realized that his greatest danger was from hidden foes. Therefore, he was armed and vigilant. The enemies a man can see he can fight, but the enemy that skulks in darkness unseen, he ever so weak, is to be dreaded by reason of his invisibility.

The foes that threaten the life to-day are all ambushed. There is no fear of the "arrow that flieth by day," for the day of the arrow is past and gone. But the "pestilence that walketh in darkness" is still a thing of terror, because it strikes suddenly from ambush. Let the word pestilence be only whispered and fear grips the heart. Homes are forsaken. People flock to the roads frantic to escape from the infected dyspepsia and who is alarmed? Nobody. Yet dyspepsia in the diseases to which it tends, is responsible for more deaths annually in the United States than pestilence could probably claim in a decade.

THE WEAK SPOT

of the modern man is his stomach. No man can be stronger than his stomach because the stomach is in effect the vital centre of the body. Where does the heart get its nourishment? From the stomach. Where is the nourishment prepared for lungs, liver, kidneys and other organs? All are nourished from the stomach. Stop putting food into the stomach and in usual the heaviest beating heart must eat to live. Everybody knows that. They understand that the man that isn't fed starves. But what they don't seem to understand is that starvation is just as sure when the man is fed, as when he is starved. The stomach cannot convert the food it receives into nutrition for the body and its several organs.

The sign of starvation is emaciation, loss of flesh. That's the sign of dyspepsia and weak stomach also. The dyspeptic eats enough but the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition fail to extract the nourishment from the food and as the body grows lean and the strength of the body is undermined.

DYSPEPSIA AND DEGENERACY.

There is a certain physical degeneracy which results from dyspepsia. If the body is not nourished it grows weak, and as the body is only a general name for the sum of its organs and members, to speak of the body growing weak means that the heart is growing weak, the lungs are growing weak, and that the liver and kidneys and other organs are involved in the same "weakness." When diseases of the stomach and its allied organs are cured these dependent weaknesses are cured also.

"For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes R. E. Secord, Esq., of 13 Eastern Ave.,

Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. I finally lost faith in them all. I was so far gone that I could not bear any solid food on my stomach for a long time; felt melancholy and depressed. I could not sleep nor follow my occupation (insurance). Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After a week's treatment I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientiously recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land."

"I have taken one bottle of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for indigestion and liver complaint," writes Mr. C. M. Wilson, of Yalikin College, Davidson Co., N. C. "I have had no bad spells since I commenced taking your medicine—in fact have not felt like the same man. Before I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I could not eat anything without awful distress, but now I can eat anything I wish without having unpleasant feelings. Last summer our baby was teething and was so poor he was almost a skeleton. We gave him your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and now he is as healthy and well as any child. I will speak a good word for your medicine whenever I have an opportunity."

Dr. R. E. Secord's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures through the stomach those diseases of heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, etc., which have their origin in disease of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition.

STRENGTH FROM FOOD.

All physical strength must come from food after it has been received into the stomach and properly digested and assimilated. Medicine cannot make strength. There is only one source of strength and that is food converted into nutrition. There are two chief causes of physical weakness; one insufficient food, the other the inability of the stomach and its allied organs to digest and assimilate the food eaten. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is not offered as a substitute for food, but as a medicine which enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, and so gives the body the strength which comes from food alone.

When the weak stomach is made strong again by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" the food it receives is perfectly digested and assimilated, and the body in all its parts and organs is restored to strength with the stomach. The lost flesh is regained and the body is built up with sound, solid flesh instead of flabby fat.

But as the body is but a name for the sum of its organs and members, so strength for the body means strength for each organ of the body, and when the stomach is made strong, strength is given to the "weak" heart, "weak" lungs and other weak organs.

PLAIN TALK

on medical matters must be in plain English if it is to be understood. It was the aim of Dr. Pierce in the preparation of his Common Sense Medical Adviser, to provide for household use a book that should deal with health and disease practically, on common sense lines and in common sense language. This great book, containing 700 large pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 3 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper-covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Schley & Santiago

BY GEORGE EDWARD GRAHAM.

The Intrepid Associated Press war correspondent, who was aboard the U. S. S. Brooklyn during the entire five months of the campaign. Illustrated with photographs taken by the Author during the fight.

The Most Sensational Book of the Day.

The true story of the famous cruise of the Flying Squadron under Commodore Winfield Scott Schley, including the blockade and destruction of the Spanish fleet, TOLD FOR THE FIRST TIME.

Contains an autograph endorsement and personal account of the battle by Rear-Admiral Schley.

"The facts of the story of the movements and operations of the Flying Squadron as the author tells them in this book are correct."
—W. S. SCHLEY.

An interesting narrative of facts. Explains the so-called "Retrograde Movement," the "Loop," the "Coaling Problem," and settles conclusively every adverse ruling of the Court of Inquiry.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, when Governor of New York, said:—"Mr. Graham's story is the best account I have heard or read of the naval fighting during the war. It reads just as much courage to go about taking photographs as it did to go the guns."

THE NEW YORK HERALD says:—"Mr. Graham, in the telling of facts, leaves the reader free to make the deduction that several naval officers need a Court of Inquiry to re-establish their reputations, if they can be re-established."

No subject has ever before the public that has interested everybody as the manner in which Admiral Schley has been treated, and the American people demand the full recognition of the hero of Santiago. This book tells everything just as it occurred and as the eyewitnesses saw it. Book is selling like wildfire. Liberal commissions. Outfit and books now ready. Send seven 5-cent stamps for canvassing outfit. ACT QUICK. Now is the time to MAKE MONEY.

TREMENDOUS RAINFALL IN SONOMA VALLEY.

The Precipitation for the Storm 6.36 Inches.

Robert Hall's rain gauge shows that February has been an extraordinary stormy month. Ending at 7 A. M., Thursday 6.36 inches of rain had fallen during the storm which set in last week. The precipitation for the month has been 12.11 inches and for the season 22.41 inches. Last year the rainfall for a corresponding period was 21.35. It will be observed that more than half of the precipitation fell during February. The rain this month has started grain and the wild grasses to growing with amazing rapidity and the valley and surrounding mountains have put on their spring garb of green, reminding one that notwithstanding the blighting frosts of December and January spring weather is near at hand.

Two Dwellings Burned in Kenwood.

A fire broke out in Kenwood last Tuesday, resulting in the total destruction of two dwellings belonging to Peter Jepson and John Ashlund. The fire started in the Jepson house, which was occupied by the family of J. G. Nelson, a baker, employed at present in Santa Rosa. When discovered the fire had gained too great headway to save the Jepson house, and the efforts of the neighbors were directed toward saving the Ashlund dwelling, located about thirty feet distant from the other building. There seemed every chance of preventing the flames communicating to Ashlund's house when suddenly the wind changed and it caught fire on the roof and with the other house was burned to the ground. A quantity of furniture was saved from the Ashlund home but everything belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson went up in smoke. A defective flue is supposed to have been the cause of the fire. There was a small insurance on both houses.

DROWNED AT REGLAMATION

Foreman Moore a Victim of Tuesday's Flood.

Frank B. Moore, foreman of the beet farm at Reclamation, 10 miles south of this place, lost his life last Tuesday in the turbulent waters which broke over the levee which surrounds the ranch.

Shortly before the noon hour the deceased mounted a horse and started to ride along the levee to see how it was holding out against the tremendous sea of waters that came pouring down Petaluma creek. After proceeding quite a distance he turned his horse's head and started to return.

In the meantime a mighty tide had set in from San Pablo Bay and meeting the oceans of water that came tearing down Petaluma creek, engulfed the levee, and made the return of the unfortunate foreman extremely hazardous. It was his last resort, however, and it is supposed that he fearlessly headed his horse along the levee, which was completely submerged in many places, toward the ranch house. At times it looked as though he would succeed in reaching a place of safety. Suddenly the animal he was riding plunged into a deep pool that had cut its way through the levee, and man and horse were instantly swirling in the turbulent and muddy waters. The horse, in his frantic efforts to extricate himself, threw foreman Moore, who was evidently rendered unconscious as he was unable to help himself and disappeared from sight. The animal continued its struggles and eventually succeeded in freeing itself and reaching terra firma, but the rider was nowhere to be seen.

Moore's body was subsequently recovered a short distance from where he went to his death.

De BRETTEVILLE VS. CHARLEY ANDERSON.

Plaintiff Awarded $1250 Damages.

The De Bretteville - Anderson $50,000 breach of promise case was given to the jury in Judge Kerrigan's court, San Francisco, last Tuesday. After being out less than an hour the jury awarded Miss de Bretteville $1250 damages. As the young woman, according to her own admission, had already secured about $1500 in presents from the generous-hearted Klondiker, the five-weeks courtship had panned out pretty well for her. Miss de Bretteville, in prospecting for a beau, struck a valuable lead in Charlie Anderson, and that the dips and spurs of her brief courtship did not lead to a $50,000 "pocket" was due to that horrid jury, which handed her out a "salted" $1200 gold mine instead.

Anderson says he will very willingly pay over the twelve hundred to Miss de Bretteville and get rid of the whole business. Miss de Bretteville spitefully replies to her lead beau that she will take the money and use it to get Anderson's father out of the poorhouse in Sweden. This is a rough dig at the wealthy Klondiker. Evidently Congress had Miss de Bretteville in mind when once upon a time he wrote these words: "Heaven has no rage like love to hatred turned, and hell no fury like a woman scorned."

Chas. Filippini Seized With Hemorrhage of the Nose.

Charles Filippini, the well-known and wealthy dairyman of this valley, was taken to San Francisco on Monday of last week for medical treatment. The Friday previous he was suddenly seized with hemorrhage of the nose while in Napa. Efforts to stop the bleeding were unavailing.

He was taken to the European Hotel, where was under the care of a physician for several days. His condition became so alarming it was decided to place him under the care of a San Francisco specialist. Mr. Filippini's wife and brother accompanied him to the city and will remain with him until he is pronounced out of danger. Mr. Filippini's many friends in this valley wish him a speedy recovery.

STORMY WEATHER.

Heaviest Downpour in Years-- Lower Part of Valley Flooded

One of the fiercest storms that has been known for many years swept over this valley from Friday night of last week until Wednesday morning. The rain fell without cessation for ninety-six hours, and on Tuesday a terrific gale set in which reached its height about midnight of that day. At that hour what with fitful gusts of wind, vivid flashes of zig-zag lightning, loud detonations of thunder and a perfect deluge of rain, it appeared as though pandemonium itself had been turned loose to terrorize the people of this peaceful valley.

The tremendous and steady downpour of Saturday and Sunday converted every small stream in the valley into a raging torrent. These found an outlet into Sonoma creek and caused that stream to rise with marvelous rapidity. It broke over its banks in many places south of town, inundating the lower part of the valley for miles around.

Monday morning the country surrounding Schellville presented the appearance of a vast inland sea. Many washouts occurred on both the California Northwestern and Southern Pacific tracks at or near that place, cutting off railway communication with San Francisco for twenty-four hours, at the end of which time both tracks were temporarily repaired so as to permit the passage of trains at a low rate of speed.

At Embardero, which had also a heavy flood tide to contend with, everything moveable was afloat, and the residents down that way, while in no immediate danger of their lives, will not soon forget the sensations they experienced on Sunday night and Monday, surrounded as they were with a vast body of water and cut off from communication with the higher lands to the north and west of them.

Capt. Hanto and his family, who reside on the banks of Sonoma creek below Embardero, had to seek refuge in their large barn, as the rapidly rising waters invaded his dwelling Sunday night and threatened to sweep it from its foundations.

Old residents of Embardero say that not since 1868 have they experienced such a flood. All the ranches down that way were under water Monday morning, but the damage, which will not be heavy, will be more than offset by a coating of rich sediment which covered the land after the flood had subsided.

The reclaimed farms at McGill's, Tubbs' Island and Reclamation, which were covered with a fine growth of young grain, were submerged and it is feared much damage may result.

In the upper and central portions of the valley Sonoma creek burst over its banks in several places. The most serious overflow was on Robt. Hall's ranch. Here the creek broke over its banks near Mr. Hall's private residence and went tearing through his fine orchard, and much damage resulted.

The employees on Robt. Hall's ranch, which adjoins Mr. Hall's place, were driven from their quarters on the banks of the creek and sought safety from the on-rushing waters by fleeing with the stock to a large barn located on higher ground. When the stock was taken from the stable on the banks of the creek the animals were standing in water nearly two feet in depth.

Orlando Soldate Married.

Orlando Soldate, well known to many of the residents of this valley, has taken unto himself a wife. Orlando, we congratulate you.

Mr. and Mrs. Soldate are spending their honeymoon in the southland and upon their return will take up their residence on the 800-acre ranch owned by Mr. Soldate's mother and located near Petaluma.

SECRETLY WEDDED.

Miss Hope Glenn and Frank Argall Married Eight Months Ago.

Although Miss Hope Glenn, formerly of Locust Grove, and Frank Argall, a graduate of the University of California, a singer of note and a young attorney of San Francisco, have been married for eight months, the secret was not known until one day this week.

It was last July that the young couple, who had been engaged for some time, decided to be married. The ceremony took place in Oakland on the 17th of that month.

The officiating clergyman was a friend of Argall's, and the marriage was celebrated in his private office at the church. Whom this minister is the young people decline to say at present. Besides the principals there were only two witnesses. One was a girl friend of the bride, and the other was Charles H. Harwood, a friend of the groom.

After the ceremony Argall returned to his home in San Francisco and his bride went back to the home of an aunt with whom she still resides. The principals and witnesses were all pledged to secrecy, and although a very few more of the close friends of the bride and groom were informed of the wedding, the young couple succeeded in keeping their secret until now. Mrs. Argall went back to Miss Head's seminary in Berkeley, where she was a student, and remained there for the fall term, no one suspecting that the quiet little girl was a bride.

A. A. Glenn, a San Francisco capitalist, is the father of the bride. He is expected to return from the East in a short time.

The groom, whose parents reside in Grass Valley, has lived in Berkeley for twelve years. He graduated from the University of California in 1896, and was admitted to the bar two years ago. He is very well known in musical circles, and sings in the First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Argall left Berkeley Wednesday for a short wedding trip.

The news of the betrothal comes as a great surprise to the many acquaintances of Miss Glenn in this valley. She was a pupil at Mrs. Lubeck's school at Schellville for many years, but no one ever dreamed that she contemplated matrimony, so young and petite did she seem.

Plaza Benefit Ball.

The net receipts of the Plaza benefit ball given by the Woman's Club on Friday night of last week were $37.60. This is a good showing when it is taken into consideration that the night was one of the most stormy of the season. The committee having charge of the ball, of which Mrs. Pauline McMullen is chairman, deserve great praise for making the affair both a social and financial success.

EL VERANO HAPPENINGS.

Exciting Chase After Illegal Fishermen.

Other Items of Interest as Recorded by "You Know."

A. W. Weaver visited the county seat Thursday.

Miss Mary Chance of San Francisco was in town Sunday.

Jack Kearney came up from Alameda Sunday and visited his home in this place.

O. W. Nordwell, the well-known tailor of San Francisco, spent Sunday on his ranch near here.

Hugh Chance, who is now a resident of the metropolis, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives here.

Wm. Sherman, who is doing newspaper work in San Francisco, spent Sunday with his El Verano relatives.

Prof. Wilkinson of Berkeley and Prof. Merle of the University of California spent Saturday and Sunday on the former's ranch near this place.

Miss Emily Kearney left for Oakland Saturday, where she spent a few days visiting her sisters. She returned to her home near this place Monday night.

Another saloon is to be started in this town. This time opposite the El Verano Villa on the lot formerly owned by C. T. Wilkinson. It will be opened about April 1st by a young up-to-date saloon man from the metropolis.

The storm of last Sunday night did considerable damage in this place and vicinity. Sonoma creek broke over its banks in several places. The Pacific Improvement Company's vineyard was inundated and many vines destroyed.

W. M. Mullen, who is now employed in the office of the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, came up from that city Saturday morning for a two days' visit with his relatives in this place. He was accompanied by Henry McHugh, a ship joiner. Mr. McHugh proved to be quite a sportsman. On Saturday he went hunting near this place and succeeded in bagging ten cotton tails and a coon.

As Louis Kearney was driving from Eldridge to Sonoma, one day this week, the span of horses over which he held the reins became frightened when opposite Felici Clerici's saloon and started at full speed toward the latter place. After running about a mile the bits of the animals were seized by a guest of the El Verano Villa, who happened to be passing along the road, and they were brought to a standstill. The spokes were knocked out the wheels of the wagon but no other damage resulted.

As two young men, who live a few miles from town, were fishing for trout in Fowler creek, one day last week, they ran into Constable Ohm, who was on the lay for violators of our fish laws. Upon discovering the officer they took to the hills to keep out of the clutches of the law. Constable Ohm started in pursuit. The chase up canyons and down canyons was an exciting one, but the law-breakers finally succeeded in out-sprinting the gritty officer and making their escape through the dense underbrush. Your correspondent would advise Constable Ohm to patrol Sonoma and Agua Caliente creeks, as parties have been spearing salmon right along in those streams.

HOUSEWORK

Too much housework wrecks women's nerves. And the constant care of children, day and night, is often too trying for even a strong woman. A haggard face tells the story of the overworked housewife and mother. Deranged menses, leucorrhoea and falling of the womb result from overwork. Every housewife needs a remedy to regulate her menses and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition.

I am so glad that your Wine of Cardui is helping me. I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I am doing my own work without any help, and I washed last week and was not one bit tired. That shows that the Wine is doing me good. I am getting fatter than I ever was before, and sleep good and eat heartily. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui, I used to have to lay down five or six times every day, but now I do not think of lying down through the day. Miss Richard Jones.

A WALKING STICK.

The Way to Utilize It in Measuring Different Heights.

A walking stick is an invaluable article to accompany you on a walk, for it can assist you in other ways than in aiding your progress. Suppose you want to measure the height of a cliff, a church steeple or some other tall object, and the sun shines not, and therefore no shadow is cast. The walking stick will none the less assist you to tell its height. This time take a distance some 120 feet from the object which you wish to measure, and in the ground at that point firmly plant your stick. Then move along from it in a straight line until by lying down on mother earth the top of your stick and the top of the object to be measured will to your eye be on a line. This spot you will mark. This gives you three points—one where you laid down, two your planted stick and three the object to be measured. Now, the distance from the point where you laid down to the stick is to the distance from the stick to the object to be measured as the height of the stick is to the height of that object. Thus, suppose the point where you laid down is six yards from the stick and thirty-six yards from the object, then the object is six times the height of the stick. Now, the stick you know to be three feet high; the object measured is therefore approximately eighteen feet.

People who live much in the open, as do ranchers and farmers, can generally tell time fairly accurately by the sun, and some, although the feat is seemingly more difficult, can tell time from the length of the shadow thrown by the sun. The shadow is, however, an easy way of determining heights. For example, suppose you wished to ascertain the height of a tree when walking. Pace the shadow of the tree made by the sun and then plant your walking stick and pace its shadow. As many more or less times its length as the shadow is will give you the distance of shadow thrown by the sun. For instance, suppose the shadow to be three times the length of the stick, then it is nine feet, for the stick is three, and if you then divide your paced distance of the tree's shadow by three you will get fairly near the actual height of the tree.

Why Ice Floats.

Did you ever wonder why it is that ice, being formed of congealed water, floats, and why on some still lakes it begins to form at the bottom before it does on the surface? Scientists explain these enigmas this wise: Ice is specifically lighter than water just about to freeze and therefore floats in it. This is one reason why the formation of ice usually begins at the surface.

Another is its peculiar law of expansion. The general law is that cold induces expansion. This law holds good with water only to a certain point. When water has cooled down to within 7.4 degrees of freezing, it ceases to contract as before with increase of cold and begins to expand till it freezes.

This expansion causes the colder portions of the water to rise to the surface. The formation of "ground ice" or "anchor ice," as it is sometimes called, is the only exception to the rule given above.

An Extraordinary Prayer.

A volume of reminiscences by Dean Hole quotes the following extraordinary prayer as offered by a loyal but certainly injudicious English clergyman on behalf of Queen Adelaide, the wife of William IV.: "O Lord, save thy servant, our sovereign lady, the queen; grant that as she grows an old woman she may become a new man; strengthen her with thy blessing that she may live a pure virgin, bringing forth sons and daughters to the glory of God, and give her grace that she may go forth before her people like a he goat on the mountains."

Crab Soup.

A recipe for crab soup said to have descended straight from Martha Washington herself is found in an old manuscript recipe book: Fifteen crabs thrown into boiling water alive. Boil until done; meat picked up fine; put into two quarts of water in which a pound of middling bacon has been boiled. Beat yolks of two eggs; stir in pint of rich milk which has been heated. Then pour into the boiling crab soup, which must not boil, but cook a few minutes after mixing. Season with salt and cayenne pepper to taste.

Soldiers In Peace Time.

Under favorable conditions of peace the mortality among soldiers is practically the least known, with a death rate of only five in every 1,000. Compared with a soldier's life the placid days even of a clergyman are full of danger, for his death rate is eleven in 1,000, or more than twice as great as that of his military brother.

Having a Run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Between the hours of eleven o'clock A. M. and closing time at night on Jan. 25th, 1901, A. F. Clark, druggist, Glade Springs, Va., sold twelve bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says, "I never handled a medicine that sold better or gave better satisfaction to my customers." This Remedy has been in general use in Virginia for many years, and the people there are well acquainted with its excellent qualities. Many of them have testified to the remarkable cures which it has effected. When you need a good, reliable medicine for a cough or cold, or attack of the grip, use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are certain to be more than pleased with the quick cure which it affords. ARE YOU DEAF?

ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF

DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING

ARE NOW CURABLE

by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion. About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely. I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever. I then saw your advertisement, accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours, F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.
